HAS FREAK ROSE BUSH

VINELAND, N. J., June 10.—A. E. Fettiengill has a freak rose bush, the like of which has never been seen by growers in the business for half a century.

This bush sent forth several perfectly white and natural blooms this year, and just as the petals or leaves began to fall off the bloom another bud appeared in the center of the bloom and sent forth another white rose like the first, but of a more fragrant nature.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 10.—The marriage of Princess Margareta, daughter of Prince Waldemar, of Prussia, and Prince Rene, of Bourbon-Parma, a brother of former Empress Zita, of Austria, was solemnized in the Roman Catholic Church here yesterday in the presence of King Christian, Queen Louise, the Queen mother, the dowager empress of Russia, and other members of the Danish royal family.

Large crowds lined the streets and cheered the bridal party.

MRS. HARDING will be the ranking guest at the party which Mrs. Denby, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, is giving this afternoon aboard the Sylph. Starting at 3:30 o'clock, the little vessel will cruise down the Potomac in leisurely fashion and tea will be served on the way home. It will be a "family party" which Mrs. Denby is entertaining—the President's official family—as the guests asked to meet Mrs. Harding are limited to Mrs. Coolidge and the ladies of the Cabinet circle.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge returned to town this morning after having passed two days in Brooklyn. Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge and Will H. Hays, Postmaster General, were the guests of honor yesterday of 125,000 Brooklyn Sunday school children, who celebrated the ninety-second anniversary of the Brooklyn Sunday School Union. Later Mr. Coolidge was the chief speaker at the Monday Club.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge will be the guests of honor at a dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor are giving at the Chevy Chase Club tomorrow. On Monday Mrs. A. Roy will give a luncheon at Wardman Park Hotel, with Mrs. Coolidge as the guest of honor.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes will be the guests of honor this evening at dinner, when the Minister of Ecuador and Mrs. Ellahide will entertain a distinguished company of twenty-four guests. The guests will include a group of diplomats and Senators and their wives.

Dr. Esteban Gil Borges, who was recently in Washington as head of the Venezuela special mission, will sail on June 15 from New York for Trinidad en route to Venezuela. Mrs. Gil Borges will accompany him.

Mrs. Albert Sidney Burleson, wife of the former Postmaster General, and her daughter, Miss Sidney Burleson, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crain for a few days, left town last night for New York and will sail on Saturday for Europe aboard the S. S. Lapland. They propose to join Mr. Burleson, who has been abroad for some time.

During their brief visit in Washington, Mrs. Burleson and Miss Burleson were entertained by many old friends. They were received by Mrs. Harding yesterday and earlier in the day they were guests at the luncheon which Mrs. Nelson Morris, American Minister to Sweden, and Mrs. Morris gave at the Shoreham. The Burlesons and the Morrises are old friends and Miss Burleson spent a winter in Stockholm as the guest of Mrs. Morris. In the afternoon, Mrs. Burleson and Miss Burleson had tea with Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

ENTERTAINS FOR CUBANS.
Col. and Mrs. George Patten will entertain at dinner tomorrow night at the Chevy Chase Club in company with members of the Cuban polo team, which has come to Washington for a series of matches with American army teams, and the ladies of their party.

Last evening Major John G. Quekemyer entertained informally at dinner for Colonel Silva, captain of the Cuban polo team, Mrs. Silva, and Captain and Mrs. Jimenez, the little party going forward to the polo.

The international matches are being arranged under the auspices of the War Department Polo Association, of which Major Quekemyer is the head, and tournament play will open in Potomac Park on Saturday, June 18. Beginning tomorrow, there will be a series of practice games, also in Potomac Park. Tomorrow afternoon the Cuban team will play a Third Cavalry team from Fort Meyer. On Monday the visitors will come up against the War Department Greens and on Wednesday they will play the War Department Reds. All games are called for 4 o'clock. The members of the Cuban outfit are staying at the Shoreham.

Miss Elizabeth Koonces will be the only bridesmaid at the marriage of Miss Catherine Koonces to Paul Oliver Drury, which will take place tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic Church and Franklin Eugene Drury, of Washington.

MRS. ROBERT P. SKINNER, wife of the American consul general to London. Mr. and Mrs. Skinner have been visiting in Washington, and left yesterday for Ohio.

ington, a cousin of the bridegroom, will be best man.

The ceremony will be simple, owing to a recent death in the bride's family. The wedding will be followed by a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shiveley Koonces, with only the wedding party, the immediate families, and the out-of-town guests present.

Among those who come from out of town are Mr. and Mrs. William Caprell, also Flushing, N. Y.; Miss Pierson Hall, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. William Hawley, of Leesburg, Va.; and Mrs. Harry Campbell, of Denver, Col. Mr. Drury and his bride will take a short wedding trip, and will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Drury, in Maine, for the summer. They will come in Washington to live in the fall.

This evening John Clapp will give a dinner at the Chevy Chase Club for the wedding party, entertaining for his niece, Miss Hall, who was a classmate of the bride.

MRS. JUNKIN'S MUSICALS.
Col. and Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin presented their young protegee, Miss Alice Miriam, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, at a delightful musicals and garden party yesterday afternoon. Prince Gagarine also sang, and Mrs. Junkin, who is an artist pianist, was thrice a charming personality as hostess, as soloist, and in the exacting role of sympathetic accompanist.

The library of Calumet, the Logan home that Colonel and Mrs. Junkin have taken this spring since leaving "Twin Oaks," was the stage of the musicals, the guests filling the drawing rooms.

A dainty little blonde, Miss Miriam, in her rose-colored gown, seemed quite the delicate flower of her graceful song, "The Violette," of Scarlatti. So it was somewhat of a surprise to find this little lady possessed of a great dramatic force and poise in operatic selections. She has the distinction of having sung Michaela, in "Carmen," with Farrar in the title role several times this past winter at the Metropolitan. Her years in Europe, four of them with Jean de Reszke, and several years in Italy, are due to the interest of Mrs. Junkin.

Yet it is a lyric voice filled with the freshness and bloom of youth, a youth of temperament, and what is much more, of a deeper insight into her songs, that brings out their intimate psychology. Miss Miriam creates a song-mood, and then she discloses a full-blooded power and a finished artistry that shows why she has won her place in the coveted ranks of America's foremost opera house.

Her program included a gripping rendition of a Greek dramatic in Russian, then the tender "Violette" of Scarlatti, and in broad contrast a song with words by Fogazzaro, "The Last of the Roses," by Reginald Spier, in which her rich covered tones brought the modern tone mood to quality. "Stornellatrice" of Respighi, two Hageman songs, "Do Not Go, My Love," that was filled with feeling, and "At the Well," Easthope Martin's

"All for You," Mrs. Beach's "The Year's at the Spring," and finally the opera aria from Charpentier's "Louise," the "Depuis le Jour," completed a program that introduced a brilliant soprano artist to us whose winsome personality has much to add to a brilliant career.

Mrs. Junkin fairly chafed out her music with delightful technique and clear-cut meaning, making the spirited "Cracovienne Fantastique" of Paderewski all of its native color, and joyously portraying in fluency of execution the "Children Playing" of Bruno Oscar Klein, a composition that is illusive and most revealing. She also played a Schott selection and two Schumann works, his "Warum" and "Grillen."

The deep vibrant voice, of Prince Gagarine showed the broad range of a true bass register in "Le Cor" of Flegier and the "Two Grenadiers" of Schumann, his resonant wealth of tone reflecting the opera world to which Miss Miriam belongs.

An hour on the shadowed lawn, with tea served under the trees, completed another of the wonderful June days that have made Washington garden parties a rare pleasure this spring.

Mrs. Junkin was assisted in receiving by her niece, Miss Julia Junkin, and Mrs. John Chamberlain presided at the tea table.

AMONG THE GUESTS.
Among the guests were the Princess Lubomirka, the Swiss Minister and Mme. Peter, Col. Marquis di Bernese and Marquis di Bernese and Signor Sabetto, of the Italian embassy; Mrs. Raoul Tilmont, Princess Gagarine, Gen. and Mrs. Taker H. Bliss, Gen. and Mrs. I. W.
